Although I was taught in many different areas of media through high school and university, I am most interested in making videos, ranging from animation to live action. I have been in various film projects at different levels of skills and I enjoy the experience.

The 1st project, One Chance was a small project in high school in 2012. It is a short video about a girl who suffers from bulimia. This was my first experience with making a short film. There were no concrete roles for any member of the team and everyone contributed to all stages of production.

The 2nd project, Throw Away is an animated short video about materialism, a project for university in the 3rd semester in 2014. The dancer was filmed in real time and then transformed into rotoscoping by hand, frame by frame. My role in the project was to film the dance and I was one of the people who did the rotoscoping.

The 3rd project, Moments, was team exercise in Video and Audio Production for the 4th semester in university (2014). I was a part of the team that wrote the storyboard during pre-production, the camera team during production, I also colour corrected and colour graded the video in post-production.

The 4th project, Luisa, is a short film about a woman struggling to make peace with her past. It was a project for the 4th semester in 2015. During production I was responsible for recording sounds and I also colour corrected and graded during post-production.

Full project is available at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VI1wvCNpGa8>

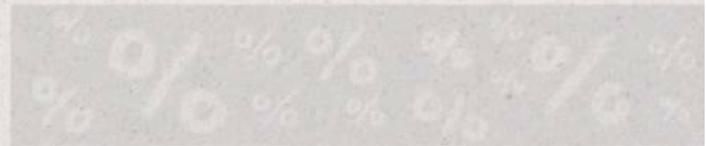

I am also working on a few more projects at the moment.
